

Civilization Leap Entry Route Map

Five entry levels from a ten-minute introduction to full research

Zijun Fu | Civilization Leap Research Group

V2.0 Formal Submission Edition | July 2026

Five entry levels

Level	Purpose	Suggested reading	For whom	Estimated time
L0	Entry through the questions	Ten Questions on Civilization Leap	First-time readers who want to judge its relevance quickly	10-20 minutes
L1	Thought and personal entry	Thought Leap: Practical Handbook / Thought Leap	Readers starting from emptiness, anxiety, exhaustion, meaning and the human heart	1-4 hours
L2	Entry to the main civilization framework	General Theory of Civilization Leap / all five volumes	Readers seeking the full causal account of civilization and its institutional direction	Half a day to several days
L3	In-depth theory	The Human Heart; Meaning Dynamics / academic edition / validation volume	Researchers in philosophy, civilization theory and interdisciplinary studies	Several days to several weeks
L4	Methods and practice	Methods, research outlines, governance standards, AGI-COS, Contribution Value and experimental interfaces	Research institutes and technical and practice teams	Enter by research topic

Three reversible reading routes

1. Public route: Ten Questions -> Practical Handbook -> Thought Leap -> all five volumes.
2. Civilization research route: main presentation manuscript -> General Theory -> all five volumes -> Meaning Dynamics / The Human Heart.
3. AGI governance route: main presentation manuscript -> Volumes III and IV of the five-volume work -> AGI-COS -> methods and governance manuscripts.

Reading principle

No single entry manuscript can replace the entire theory. Nor must any reader first accept metaphysical postulates in order to investigate the diagnosis of civilization, intermediate mechanisms or institutional boundaries.
